Diabetes and Insulin Devices

For people with Type 2 diabetes, starting on insulin can be a difficult and frightening decision to make. It is therefore important for health professionals to be knowledgeable about insulin so they can better support and educate their patients.

Topics Include:

- Insulin types and profiles
- Insulin devices
- Issues involved in insulin administration
- Patient education
- Free needle services
- Hypo prevention and management

Speaker:

Janita Bird, Credentialed Diabetic Educator, DISC Program, SouthEast Primary HealthCare Network

TAKEAWAY CDSM

Chronic conditions are one of the greatest health challenges facing Australia in the 21st century, it is estimated that currently 2.5 million Australians have chronic conditions and by 2016 this will rise to 3.5 million.

Responsibility for the day to day care of chronic conditions falls on the patient and their families and many struggle with the behavioural changes needed to successfully manage their condition/s. Health professionals also struggle with the changes to their role that are required to support patients with chronic conditions.

How can we encourage patients to play an active role in their health? How can we as health professionals provide the necessary support in our already hectic day?

Unlock the 'CDSM Toolbox'

- Patient-centred care
- Team collaboration
- Advanced communication skills
- Behaviour change techniques

Cultural Competence for Non-Indigenous Mental Health workers employed or referral partner of Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Organisation

To all Mental Health Practitioners providing services to Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander Australians:

To ensure our people receive the best possible social and emotional wellbeing and mental health care, the Australian Indigenous Psychologists Association (AIPA) has developed a Cultural Competence Workshop specifically for non-Indigenous Mental Health Practitioners.

Our workshops are delivered by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Psychologists. We believe the training can assist non-Indigenous Mental Health Practitioners such as Psychologists, Social Workers and Counselors to provide culturally competent social and emotional wellbeing and mental health care for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders.

The Office of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health (OATSIH) is supporting AIPA to provide the first round of this training for non-Indigenous Mental Health Practitioners providing services in the Aboriginal Community Controlled sector.

AIPA will deliver a two-day Cultural Competence Workshop for Non-Indigenous Mental Health Practitioners in Brisbane in August 2010

Date and Time: Monday August 2 & Tuesday August 3
9.00am to 4.30 pm both days.

Venue: Mecure North Quay, 85-87 North Quay Brisbane QLD 4000

Cost: No fee is required.

Catering: Morning Tea; Lunch; Afternoon Tea provided

RSVP: Close of business Wednesday 28th July, 2010

Who should attend? Non-Indigenous, Psychologists, Social Workers, Counselors, Psychiatrists and Mental Health Nurses who work in your organisation or provide services to your clients (referral partners).

How to enroll in the workshop? Just send a quick email stating the name, phone number and email of the person(s) you would like to attend the workshop.

Contact Tina Waru e: T.Waru@psychology.org.au ph: 03 8662 6651

General practice and prostate cancer: controversies and conundrums workshop

Friday 13 August

Jointly presented by the RACGP Victoria Faculty and the Department of General Practice at the University of Melbourne, this one-day workshop, specifically designed for GPs, will form a part of the 11th National Prostate Cancer Symposium. It will be highly informative and interactive and will provide GPs with the latest evidence in PSA screening and new treatments for prostate cancer. Some of the world's leading experts in prostate cancer will be in Melbourne for this meeting and will join with Australian leaders to tackle the many contentious issues in prostate cancer screening, diagnosis and management. The knowledge gained from this workshop will enable GPs to provide the best continuity of care for our patients with prostate cancer and their families. To register for this workshop and view a detailed workshop program go to www.prostatemeeting.org.au/prostate-meeting-programme/general-practitioners
